Maryland rebuilds quickly, starts 15-0

By Laura Boswell, USA TODAY

Volleyball

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year.

Maryland, which went 26-5 last year and 14-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, lost some seasoned players and with them the chance to repeat as conference champion or to return to the NCAA women's volleyball tournament.

Or so it appeared.

Dawne Koester, 1996 ACC player of the year, graduated. Middle hitter Conya Jabari-Kirwan had a baby in May and wasn't expected to be back in time for the start of the season.

First team all-ACC outside hitter Elizabeth Efron, after playing for the Argentine national team and having reconstructive knee surgery, had no eligibility left.

For experience, Maryland would have to cling to returning all-ACC setter Eden Kroeger. The Terrapins, picked to finish fourth in the ACC, braced for a long season.

"We were definitely looking at some significant adjustments," coach Patricia Kruger says. "No one really knew how the team would develop this year."

But at 15-0 (6-0 ACC) and ranked 17th, Maryland is off to its best start.

Jabari-Kirwan pleased for a tryout, despite missing spring training, and powered her way back onto the team. Maryland appealed to the NCAA on behalf of Efron, and she was granted another year of eligibility. Koester returned as a student assistant coach.

"The younger players have come in and just done a better job than we expected," Kruger says. "They have really picked up on the learning process of how to play other teams and give great support to our veteran players."

Just like last year, the Terrapins are winning.

"We didn't expect to snap back like this," Kruger says. "But we're just doing some things better than we expected. We have the drive to continue winning.

Kroeger, who has 4,541 career assists and continues to add to her school record, feels the drive goes deeper. "We have a lot of heart. We don't go into a match thinking we're undefeated. If anything, it makes teams want to beat us even more."

Especially ACC teams. Maryland already has beaten North Carolina, Duke and Florida State.

Some of the real tests are to come, including visits to Clemson and Georgia Tech next weekend.

"We can never relax," says Efron, who has been ACC player of the week twice. "We are always learning about the other teams. What they do, who hits where. We have to be prepared, because everyone is out to beat us."

Expert at setting up: Eden Kroeger, who has a school-record 4 assists, has led Maryland to a No. 17 ranking and unbeaten start.

Maryland plays in one the nation's largest media markets and has been featured in several national publications.

2000 graduate Beth Murphy was honored by the ACC, winning the prestigious Weaver-James-Corrigan Award.

Here We Come Comcast Center

Maryland's new student activities building and home of Terrapin Athletics was completed in fall 2002 and will be the home to Maryland volleyball beginning with the 2003 season. The Comcast Center will serve as a campus site for university special events and select community events.

The Comcast Center will house the university's athletics administration offices and include a 7,000-square-foot Academic Support Center, providing an enhanced study atmosphere for the school's nearly-700 student-athletes on 27 teams. In addition to the 17,950-seat basketball arena, an additional 1,500-seat venue will serve as home to the Terps' volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling teams, and the Nextel Heritage Hall multi-purpose room (capacity 400) will be equipped to host banquets, news conferences, large meetings and serve as a pre game restaurant suite overlooking the competition floor.

The new arena will be an excellent place for alumni and fans to enjoy their favorite sports and share their common Terrapin spirit. Visitors will learn about the men and women who have made Maryland Athletics great as they stroll through the dramatic Terrapin Walk of Fame and History. And the Terrapin Team Store, located just off the soaring three-level atrium lobby, will allow visitors to outfit their pride. Maryland will once again reclaim the status of having the best student activities center and athletics home in the country.

2003 Season Outlook

Terps Return 10 Letterwinners from last season

For the past two years, University of Maryland head volleyball coach Janice Kruger has relied on experience to guide her Terps towards success. Last season, that experience led the team to an 11-0 start—the second-best winning streak at the start of any season in Maryland volleyball history. The leaders of that streak—Amanda Ayres, Carey Brennan and Lindsay Davey—have moved on, leaving behind a group of young, eager athletes.

Though young, Kruger says the group has the skill and the tenacity to succeed in the 2003 season. Last year's seniors battled injuries, giving the underclassmen a chance to step up and show their abilities at key intervals throughout the season. This year's squad, powered by a strong attack, will work to rise in the ranks of the Atlantic Coast Conference and ultimately to return to the NCAA Tournament.

There could be no better venue for this quest to return to the national spotlight than the state-of-the-art Comcast Center. After six years of playing in Ritchie Coliseum, the Terps move across campus to the new arena, which opened in October 2002.

"We loved Ritchie Coliseum," said Kruger, "but I think the team is excited for the move. We're looking forward to the Maryland Invitational, our first tournament in this amazing venue, and the season as a whole – with the new scoreboard and seats and all the amenities that this building has to offer."

With the new, picturesque setting in place, it's time to show what the Terps have to offer. The loss of three key players is bound to have some effect, but the strong outside hitting, solid ball control and powerful jump-serving are all still there.

2003 Honors candidate Lynnsy Jones

Outside Hitter

Over the past several seasons, the Terps have become recognized as a strong attacking team. Brennan earned All-ACC honors in her junior and senior seasons and positioned herself near the top of the Maryland record book in kills and kill attempts.

Lynnsy Jones, who could be in the running for ACC Player of the Year, is poised to keep the hitting tradition alive. An AVCA All-Region selection last season, she posted a school-record 533 kills to finish third in the ACC. The right-side hitter is also recognized for her powerful jump serve. Jones finished last season with 55 service aces, putting her name in the record book again.

"Lynnsy has one of the best jump serves in the ACC," said Kruger. "She has the ability to affect the outcome of the game with each serve."

The return of Maria DiLivio, who redshirted last season, is a key ingredient to the steady attack. The 6-foot-1 hitter posted 319 kills during the 2001 season and, after a year off, is poised to build on those numbers in the coming year.

Junior Jennifer Dewalt stepped up to fill DiLivio's shoes last season after seeing limited playing time her freshman year, finishing the season with an impressive 301 kills and 43 blocks. The presence of both attackers in the lineup will provide a definite threat for opponents.

"Jen gained a lot of experience last season with Maria redshirting," said Kruger. "She'll be able to build on that this season to make a solid contribution."

Junior Sarah Treadwell also gained vast amounts of experience as an outside hitter during her sophomore campaign, after serving primarily as a defensive specialist during her freshman season. The outside hitter was one of only two Terps to play in all 120 games, during which she racked up 126 kills and 289 digs.

Three other players are expected to see time in reserve roles this season. Sophomore Stephanie Doiron and newcomers Tina Aramburu and Rachel Moore could all see playing time in the right situations.

Doiron notched 77 digs last year and will look to build on a strong spring season. Aramburu, a freshman, joins the Terps after a successful prep season at Brooke Point High School in Stafford, Va. Big things are expected from the 6-2 hitter after the initial adjustment to the collegiate level of play.

Already adjusted and ready to perform is transfer Rachel Moore. Moore joins the Terps for her sophomore season after playing at Appalachian State in 2001.

Middle Blocker

The lack of experience at the middle-blocker position was a big concern at the beginning of last season. Ayres took over the reins from Willette Dority, who finished the 2001 season third in the ACC in hitting percentage. She pushed forth wholeheartedly and, along with Stephanie Smith and Rachel Wagener, managed to build a solid block out of limited experience.

With Ayres' graduation, responsibility now lies on the shoulders of Smith and Wagener. Redshirt sophomore Smith finished last season with a team-leading 0.94 blocks per game. She posted 73 block assists and 19 solos for 92 total blocks in 98 games.

The 6-4 sophomore Wagener had a huge freshman year, finishing the season with 81 blocks, 0.87 blocks per game and a position on the ACC All-Freshman Team.

"I was incredibly pleased with Rachel's play last season," Kruger said. "She had a smooth transition from high school to college and has continually worked hard since."

Setter

If there is any position that needs development, it could be at setter. Junior Aimee Huddleston enters her first season as the starting setter after three straight years with Lindsay Davey at the helm. Davey finished her tenure at Maryland with 3,979 assists, occupying three spots on the top-10 list for individual season highs.

Huddleston saw some playing time last season while Davey was out at midseason with a broken finger. During that time, she earned 300 assists in 50 games for 6.00 assists per game. She posted a career-high 65 assists on Sept. 21, 2002, against Denver in the Denver Invitational Tournament.

"Aimee has all the skills to be an excellent setter," Kruger said. "It's simply a matter of her getting the game experience and getting comfortable with the style of play."

Kruger has no doubt that the adjustment will happen quickly, citing Huddleston's natural leadership abilities and overall intelligence. Her 5-10 frame also gives a bigger physical presence at the position, thus strengthening the blocking scheme and allowing some flexibility in the front.

Backing Huddleston is freshman Teryn Papp, who just finished a successful prep season at Bloomington High School in Bloomington, Ind. She's expected to see some time in reserve to gain match experience

Defensive Specialist

The Terps return all four defensive specialists from last season — seniors Fiona DeFreitas and Lauren Wilson, redshirt junior Kathy Shahrokh and sophomore Carrie Lagler. All are former prep stars from the state of Maryland.

DeFreitas remains the most experienced of the group. She played in 75 games last year, posting 122 digs. Wilson saw action in 40 games, while Shahrokh and Lagler also saw time.

"We have four specialists who have the ability to impact the game with their passing and defense," Kruger said. "They all train a couple hours a day on their defensive skills and have improved throughout the spring. Given that, and their potential to improve more, the ability to defend in the backcourt looks good."

Analysis

After losing the starting setter, middle blocker and outside hitter, expectations might be low for the coming season, but not at Maryland. With several players returning and a foundation of leadership in place, the potential is there. Last year's underclassmen have matured and gained some crucial match experience in their time here.

"We have a strong core of people returning who have been open to a faster style of play," Kruger said. "We want to play at a more up-tempo pace, which will allow us to be competitive at a higher level in the conference. The team is ready for that."

Head Coach Janice Kruger

16th Season at Maryland
26th Season Overall
(Nebraska '77)

One of the top coaches in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the entire country, Janice Kruger is set to embark on her 16th season as head coach of the Maryland Terrapins. Kruger has built a powerful program in College Park that includes 1990 and 1996 ACC titles and trips to the NCAA Tournament in 1990, 1995, 1996 and 1997. Kruger's success has not gone without notice, as she has been named both the ACC and the District III Coach of the Year in 1990, 1996 and 1997. During her coaching career, Kruger has amassed an amazing 652-295-6 (.687) mark including a stellar 277-190 (.593) record in College Park.

With her impressive track record at both Maryland and Nebraska-Omaha, Kruger is considered one of the elite coaches in the country. She ranks eighth all-time among current coaches in terms of victories as a four-year college head coach (611) and her career winning percentage of .687 in NCAA matches is 26th among active coaches.

In the ACC, Kruger has built an impressive resume that proves she is one of the conference's best-ever coaches. Among active ACC coaches, she is second in conference match victories with 103, second only North Carolina's Joe Sagula with 111. Kruger is also second all-time in victories at an ACC school with her 277 wins at Maryland.

Milestones have been a big part of Kruger's tenure at Maryland, especially over the past few years. Last season, Kruger guided the Terps to an 11-0 start, the longest win streak to begin a season in Maryland history. In 2001, she led Maryland to its 700th win as a volleyball program on Oct. 7 in a 3-1 victory over NC State at Ritchie Coliseum. In 31 seasons of volleyball at Maryland, just two coaches, Kruger and Barb Drum, have guided the Terrapins to a remarkable record of 716-402 (.640).

In 1996, Kruger's Terps became the first ACC team to finish a conference schedule 16-0. Maryland closed out that magical season by winning the ACC title for the first time in six years. One year later, Kruger led Maryland to an even more impressive feat, as the Terps completed the 1997 regular season with an overall record of 25-0. In the process, Maryland became just the eighth team in the nation to roll through a regular season without a defeat. The Terps closed out that historic year by reaching the NCAA Tournament for the third consecutive year.

Under Kruger's guidance, many players have flourished in the Maryland program. In 1997, Eden Kroeger became the first Terp to earn All-America honors. That same year, Kroeger also became the third player during Kruger's tenure to earn ACC Player of the Year honors (Colleen Hurley in 1990 and Daune Koester in 1992 were the others). Since Kruger came to Maryland in 1988, the Terps have also had 23 All-ACC selections and 13 All-District III selections, including two after the 2002 season awarded to Carey Brennan and Lynnsy Jones.

What has made Kruger's program at Maryland all the more impressive is the emphasis put on academic excellence. Since 1988, 43 players have been named to the ACC Honor Roll at least once during their careers at Maryland, including Hurley, Koester and Kroeger. In three of the last five seasons, a Maryland volleyball player has received the prestigious Weaver-James-Corrigan Scholar Athlete-Award from the Atlantic Coast Conference. Shannon Saltzman earned the award in 1997, Eden Kroeger was honored in 1998, and Beth Murphy earned the impressive award in 1999. On the national level, Kroeger and Nicole Lantagne (1995) have earned Verizon Academic All-America honors, while Saltzman has been named both a USA All-America Scholar and a Collegiate All-America Scholar.

Prior to her arrival at Maryland, Kruger was the head coach at Nebraska-Omaha from 1979-87. In her nine seasons, she attained a sparkling record of 352-96-6 (.783) and led her squad to NCAA Division II Final Four appearances in 1983, 1985, 1986, and 1987, as well as five consecutive North Central Conference championships from 1983-87. Twice during her career at Nebraska-Omaha, Kruger was named the AVCA Division II National Coach of the Year (1983 and 1986).

Kruger earned her bachelor's degree in 1977 from the University of Nebraska, where she was a four-year letterwinner and captain on the Husker volleyball team. The following year, she earned her master's degree in athletic administration from Nebraska.

In 1978, Kruger took over as head coach at Platte Technical Community College in Columbus, Neb., where she led her team to a 23-9 record and a spot in the national junior college tournament. One year later, she became the head coach at Nebraska-Omaha. Nine years after that, she succeeded Barb Drum as the head coach at Maryland.

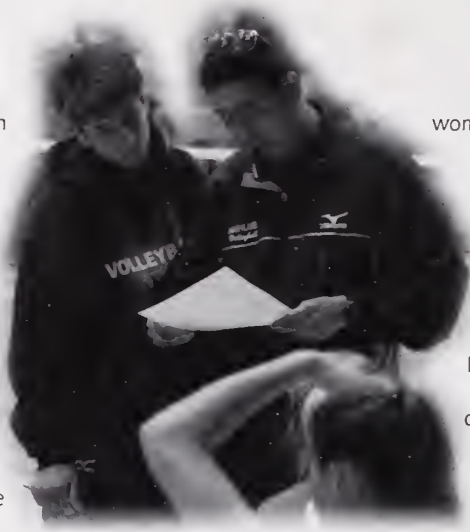
Assistant Coach Xiangrong "Sean" Liu

Fourth Year at Maryland
(Xiamen '86)



Xiangrong Liu begins his fourth season as an assistant coach at Maryland. With his vast knowledge of the game, Liu is in charge of basic court training as well as scouting and all aspects of recruiting.

Before his post at Maryland, Liu was an assistant coach at the University of Dayton, where he served for seven seasons for the Flyers. During his tenure at Dayton, Liu helped guide the Flyers to a 133-83 (.616) record and the 1998 Atlantic Ten championship.

Prior to Dayton, Liu was a member of the Shenyang Military Command of the People's Liberation Army men's volleyball team in China for six years. He later became the head coach of the women's volleyball team for the same army.

Liu came to the United States in 1989 as an exchange teacher at Bay Village High School in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1992, he returned to the United States to earn his master's degree in physical education from the University of Dayton in 1995.

A graduate of Xiamen University, Liu earned his bachelor's degree in Chinese Literature in 1986.

Liu is married to Jun Yan and has one child, a son named Rui.

Assistant Coach Felix Hou

Fifth Year at Maryland

Hou, who coached the Terps from 1995-98, brings a wealth of knowledge on volleyball and 16 years of coaching experience at the university, club and national levels. During his four years at Maryland in the 1990s, the team was 89-32, winning the ACC Championship once and making three consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament.

While at UMBC, Hou was named the 2000 Northeast Conference Coach of the Year after leading the Retrievers to a 19-13 record and a regular-season NEC Championship that year.

Prior to his arrival at Maryland in 1995, Hou spent two years as the assistant coach for the Yohan women's volleyball professional team in Hong Kong, as well as the coach for Iceland's national team, and the men's and women's teams at Iceland University. As a coach, Hou has delivered seven players to the Chinese National Team, and six to the Iceland National Team.

As a player, Hou played seven years for the Chinese National Team, missing the 1980 Olympic Games because of the country's boycott. The 1980 Chinese team recorded an undefeated record in world competition.

Hou earned a bachelor's degree in coaching management from Shanghai Physical Education Institute in 1986. His wife, Xiaolan Zhou (Joy), was the captain of China's 1984 Olympic gold medal volleyball team. They have a teenage daughter, Lucy.

All from teams in the 1990s, Maryland representatives were Colleen Hurley, Nicole Lantagne, Sherry Smith, Eden Kroeger, Elizabeth Efron and Daune Koester. Comcast Center

Maryland's new student activities building and home of Maryland Athletics was completed in fall 2002. The Comcast Center provides a seating capacity of 17,950 fans for basketball, and will serve as a campus site for university special events and select community events.

The Maryland volleyball team will make its 2003 Comcast Center debut this fall as they play in the Comcast Center Gymnasium. The 1,500 facility also serves as the home to the gymnastics and wrestling teams at Maryland. The Terps will host the inaugural volleyball event on the weekend of Aug. 29-30 with the Maryland Invitational featuring Tennessee, Villanova and Michigan State,

The Comcast Center also houses the university's athletics administration offices and includes a 7,000-square-foot Academic Support Center, providing an enhanced study atmosphere for the school's nearly-700 student-athletes on 25 teams. Nextel Heritage Hall multi-purpose room (capacity 400) is equipped to host banquets, press conferences, large meetings and serve as a pre-game restaurant suite overlooking the competition arena.

Twenty suites provide enhanced viewing and entertainment capabilities for Maryland fans. Maryland's student seating capacity accommodates 4,000, with students ringing the first 10 rows around the floor and a majority of seats on the arena's west wall.

Comcast Center is an excellent place for alumni and fans to enjoy their favorite sports and share their common Terrapin spirit. Visitors will learn about the men and women who have made Maryland Athletics great as they stroll through the dramatic Terrapin Walk of Fame and History. And the Terrapin Team Store, located just off the soaring three-level atrium lobby, allows visitors to outfit their pride. Maryland has once again reclaimed the status of having the best student activities center and athletics home in the country.

Ritchie Coliseum

Since midway through the 1997 season, Ritchie Coliseum brought Maryland volleyball enthusiasts and visiting fans excitement at its ultimate. It immediately proved to be a friend of the Terrapins as Maryland compiled a 9-0 record on its home court during the building's first year of operation. That mark began on Sept. 30, 1997, when the Terrapins moved from Cole Field House and quickly notched their first win in the newly remodeled arena, defeating James Madison, 15-1, 15-6, 15-12.

With the construction though of the University's new Comcast Center, the 2002 season was Maryland's last at Ritchie Coliseum on a full-time basis. The Terps make their new home at Comcast Center beginning with the 2003 season. But, the Terps will host two matches at Ritchie Colisum this season on Oct. 11 against Florida State and Nov. 1 vs. Georgia Tech.

Maryland fans witnessed history at Ritchie Coliseum when the Terps won their 700th victory as a program Oct. 7, 2001 against NC State. In just over four seasons at Ritchie, the Terps have won over 60 percent of their games with an impressive 47-29 mark (10-5 in 2002)

Maryland fans have poured into Ritchie in increasing numbers throughout the past two seasons. Its official seating capacity is 1,500, with seating located around the court, including directly behind the team benches, and seat-back chairs for more comfortable viewing located in the upper bowl of the coliseum. Fans have the option of just sitting back and relaxing, or for those who prefer floor seating, the reverberations of the players pounding on the floor make the excitement all that much more intense.

Originally built in 1931, Ritchie Coliseum joined campus landmarks such as Rossborough Inn and Turner Dairy on Route 1 in downtown College Park. The gymnasium joined the then-nine-year-old 5,000-seat Byrd Stadium, as the prime athletic facilities more than 65 years ago.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

University of Maryland

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

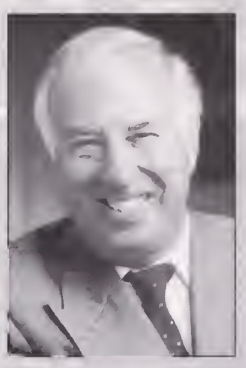
Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.



Dr. C.D. Mote

University President
California '51
Sixth Year at Maryland

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

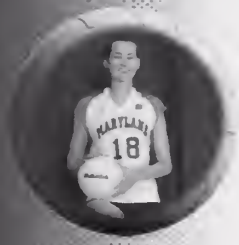
Talented Students

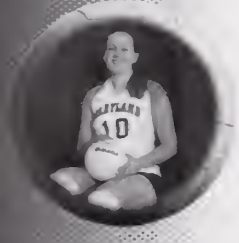
Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."





Deborah A. Yow

Director of Athletics
10th Year at Maryland
Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S. Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center
- The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.
- In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three As of the University — Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

Yow on stage with head coach Ralph Friedgen after the Terps won the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

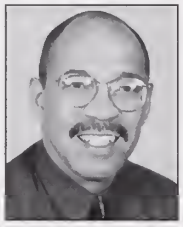
Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.



Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Don Pearman (above) works with the volleyball team.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

Strength & Conditioning

Collegiate volleyball has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Corliss White (right) that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the volleyball team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for soccer is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. White makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in volleyball goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the volleyball team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.
